Poster Awards

- Prizes awarded for best posters by an early-career scientist, by a mid-career scientist, and overall
- Winners will be invited to return to IIASA for one week to explore opportunities for collaboration with IIASA’s researchers
- If the winner is a member of IIASA staff, they will receive financial support for attending a scientific conference

Twitter Award

- Tweet your favorite quotes from the conference with the hashtag #systemsanalysis15
- The author of the most interesting and popular tweet will win an iPad mini
2nd Best Poster by an Early-Career Scientist (PhD since 2010)

Gergely Boza (IIASA)
S5-11 Systemic-risk Dilemmas Emerging from Reactive Investments
Co-authors: Dieckmann U

Best Poster by an Early-Career Scientist

Henrik Sjödin (IIASA)
S5-14 The Formation of Structured Cooperative Communities
Co-authors: Brännström Å, Mazzucco R, Dieckmann U
2nd Best Poster by a Mid-Career Scientist (PhD 2000-2009)

Joakim Lundgren (Luleå University of Technology)

S3-02 Optimal Localization of Next-generation Biofuel Production Integrated in Swedish Forest Industry

Co-authors: Wetterlund E, Pettersson K, Lundmark R

Best Poster by a Mid-Career Scientist

Christiane Zarfl (Center for Applied Geosciences, Eberhard Karls Universität Tübingen)

Co-authors: Berlekamp J, Kleinteich J, Tockner K
2nd Best Poster Overall - Tie

Linda See (IIASA)
S1-07 The Role of Citizen Science and Crowdsourcing Tools in Supporting Systems Analysis at IIASA

Amandine Pastor (IIASA)
S6-08 Defining New Global Land-use Map in 2050 by Including Environmental Flow Requirements
  Co-authors: Palazzo A, Havlik P, Kabat P
Best Poster Overall

Jukka Käyhkö (Department of Geography and Geology, University of Turku)

S2-09 Reindeer Husbandry as a Social-ecological System in a Warming Climate

Co-authors: Horstkotte T, Kivinen S, Vehmas J, Oksanen L, Johansen B, Forbes B
Twitter Award

- Prize for most popular quote
  #systemsanalysis15
Systems Analysis 2015
Awards
Closing Session, 13 November 2015